

The best rooftop brunches in NYC

Want your eggs Benedict and Bloody Marys with a view? Enjoy all of the above at a rooftop brunch in NYC.

By Emma Orlow and Time Out New York contributors | Posted: Friday June 14 2019

You love rooftop bars, you love Bloody Marys and we know you love brunch in NYC—get three for the price of one at the best rooftop brunches NYC has to offer. From hotel terraces to beer-bar decks, New York City has got a sky-high setting for all of your brunch needs.

Restaurants, Mexican

Cantina Rooftop

📍 Hell's Kitchen

Located atop Stage 48, the modern rooftop restaurant offers a wide variety of classic brunch and Mexican-inspired dishes. Pick from plates like cinnamon- and sugar-dusted ricotta fritters, scrambled egg-stuffed breakfast enchiladas and a Pat LaFrieda burger topped with avocado and chipotle aioli. Sat, Sun 11:30am-3:30pm